Alexis Ritzer is an Associate at Carter Arnett. Alexis is a registered patent attorney with a background in the energy industry and various scientific fields such as chemistry, thermodynamics, and fluid dynamics. Alexis' wide background enables her to represent both plaintiffs and defendants in cases involving patent infringement and validity in different technologies involving telecommunications, semiconductors, circuitry, pharmaceuticals, and mechanical engineering.

Prior to joining Carter Arnett, Alexis served as a judicial extern to Judge Jane J. Boyle at the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of Texas and a Judicial Law Clerk for the Patent Trial and Appeal Board for the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office. In law school, Alexis served as a Senior Articles Editor for the Texas A&M University Law Review and the teaching assistant for the Texas A&M University of Law Patent Clinic. Alexis also participated in her law school's Tax Dispute Resolution Clinic and Trademark and Copyright Clinic.
